

WILL ANSWER WINKLER LETTER

General Bryant Says He Will Send a Reply Soon.

IT WILL TAKE TIME

Many Minds Said To Be at Work on the Document.

OTHER POLITICS

(Special A. D. Dispatch.) Milwaukee, July 29.—General Geo. E. Bryant has officially announced that he will answer General Winkler's open letter, but that it will be in the form of a communication to General Winkler personally and not to the papers. Should General Winkler desire to have it published after he has read it General Bryant says that he has no objections.

Work Of Many
Rumors from Madison say that Governor LaFollette is himself superintending the wording and construction of the answer that is to be given to the public. It is also rumored that several of the leading attorneys have given their aid in solving the perplexing questions asked by General Winkler.

Congressional Fight
August 14 has been set as the date for the congressional caucuses in Dane county to elect delegates for the Second district congressional convention to be held on August 21. Thus far the fight is between H. C. Adams and Herman Dahle for the county delegation.

Dahle's Fight
Herman Dahle is the congressman who claims he was thrown down by Governor LaFollette to make way for William C. Leitch of Columbus. He came out openly against his former leader and he and his delegation did all that they could to defeat him at the former caucuses. Mr. Adams is a friend of both LaFollette and Pfister and during the past year has not taken sides with either faction. He resigned the position of Dairy and Food commissioner to try for the nomination.

Former Democrat
W. C. Leitch is a former democrat having come into the republican party since the break in democracy's ranks in 1896. He is a shrewd politician and thus far leads in the race for delegates for the nomination. He is a friend of LaFollette's and delivered as his part of the contract Columbus county at the state convention.

HAD A STRICT SENSE OF DUTY

New Jersey Militiaman Stops Mrs. Roosevelt at the Trenton Review.

(Special By Scripps-McIntae.) Trenton, N. J., July 29.—The story of how Anthony Brennan, a Trenton lawyer and National Guardsman, held up the carriage containing Mrs. Roosevelt and other ladies at the bayonet's point at Sengrist last Thursday has just leaked out. Brennan was one of the detail chosen to guard the governor's cottage during the visit of the President and his party.

Halts Party
When the carriage containing Mrs. Roosevelt and other ladies of the presidential party was returning from the review of the troops, Brennan halted the carriage as it reached the enclosure and at the bayonet's point commanded Mrs. Roosevelt to produce a pass. Mrs. Roosevelt in answer to "Tony's" demand, made known her identity, but it made no difference to the young barrister, for his commanding officer had given him orders to let no man cross the line without a pass. "Tony's" law training included women, too.

Still Persistent
The driver several times tried to force his way through the line, but "Tony" was there with the bayonet, which he planted against the driver's stomach. One of the state officers noticing the trouble, came to the party's rescue, and after vouching for Mrs. Roosevelt and assuming all responsibility in case there was trouble, Brennan consented to let them pass.

WILL RAISE THE SUNKEN FLEET

Contractors Will Bring Up the Spanish Vessels Sunk by Admiral Dewey.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—(Special.)—It is proposed to dispose of the Spanish warships which have been in the Manila harbor since Dewey sank them, four years ago. The navy department is advised that the authorities in the Philippines have accepted the bid of the Philippine Engineering and Construction company to lift the work. There are ten of these wrecks and they are to be raised and removed within one year from the date of signing the contract. The company has deposited the sum of $10,000 as a guarantee that the contract will be carried out. The government, their profits being derived from the "junk" raised.

Wrecks Examined
The company has had an expert diver and wrecker for some time and he has made a close examination of the wrecks and their value. The contractors have no doubt as to their ability to do the work on time, as such of the necessary appliances as are not at hand can readily be procured from Hong Kong. This is a big undertaking and will involve the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Four Bidders
There were four bidders—a Japanese company, the Philippine Transportation and Construction Co., a firm at Cavite, and the Philippine Construction and Engineering Co. No one has any idea of the worth of these vessels, and the successful bidders are really engaged in what might be called a submarine lottery. It is not expected they will find much of value. The recovered ships are likely to be classed as "junk."

ATHLETES MAKE THE BEST SCORE

In the Big Gun Target Practice, Foot Ball Men Are the Winners.

New York, July 29.—(Special.)—Baseball and football training showed to advantage today in the test of a ten inch coast defense gun under the direction of the special gun carriage board. At Fort Monroe the board tried an eight-inch gun on a barrette mount and at Fort Dupont a gun on a Crozier-Bullington disappearing carriage. Today at Sandy Hook a ten-inch gun on a barrette carriage was fired for rapidity and endurance observations.

All Ready
Everything was made ready for the firing of ten rounds for speed. The big projectiles, each weighed 575 pounds. The men were divided into gun crews with a relief after each ten rounds. A special series of thirty rounds followed the ten round test, and the last crew to handle the gun comprised entirely baseball and football players of the Forty-eighth company. The first ten shots were fired in exactly 15 minutes, the shortest interval between shots being 1 minute 25 2/5 seconds.

Then the series of thirty rounds began. The official time between the firing of the first of the new set and the firing of the tenth was exactly 13 minutes and 22 seconds.

The next crew consumed nearly 19 minutes in firing ten shots. Capt. Phillips called upon the baseball and football detachment to man the gun during the firing of the last ten rounds. From the firing of the twentieth shot to the firing of the twenty-first shot only 1 minute, 22 seconds elapsed. With each shot the crew improved and easily made one in 1 minute and 4 seconds. Altogether the last ten rounds of the series were fired in exactly 10 minutes 59 2/5 seconds, while the firing of the entire thirty rounds took only 46 minutes.

GREAT FARMERS' TRUST BUDDING IN INDIANA

Gigantic Combine to Hold Product for Agriculturists Until Prices Are Right.

La Grange, Ind., July 29.—Indiana farmers have started a movement to effect an organization to control the wheat and corn crop. The organization is designed to take in every farmer in the country. It will be of such gigantic proportions that the gain of all American farmers will be annually $500,000,000. The idea is to make effective the now ineffective tariff on wheat by holding the crop until the price is higher.

The plan was started by Clarence Miller of Frankfort, a young school superintendent. The farmers claim that while the protective tariff has raised prices for other producers it has not raised prices for the producers of wheat. It is proposed to make an organization in every township and any member in need of money will be given it from the farmers' trust bank, which is to be a part of the organization, his crop to be given as security for the loan to enable him to avoid selling while the price is low.

ENGLISH LORD WILL GAMBLE

He is Said To Be Now Planning for a Coup at Saratoga.

New York, July 29.—(Special.)—It was said this afternoon that James Francis Harry St. Clair-Erskine, fifth earl of Rosslyn, would be taken to Saratoga next month by a syndicate of gamblers, headed by "Bud" Renaud, proprietor of the Merchants' club in New Orleans and one of the best known gamblers in the United States, to be exploited as a system player at roulette at a gambling place that is now being acted up by the syndicate in or near Saratoga.

A Sure System

Before the lord can be exploited at Saratoga he must, of course, be brought to this country. The cables have yet to tell of a contemplated visit of Rosslyn to the States. Last winter Rosslyn announced that he had a sure thing system for beating roulette, and he advertised for subscriptions to a fund which he might take to Monte Carlo to make a fortune for himself and the subscribers, he found a considerable number of persons who were willing to give up their money. For a time Rosslyn's winnings were of such magnitude that the subscribers to the fund were encouraged.

System Failed

At length, however, the percentage in favor of the house and against the player did its work. The Rosslyn system went the way of all other systems and the young man went broke or nearly so. There is an unwritten decree that there shall be just six gambling resorts in Saratoga and no more. Since the six have been doing business other men have tried to break into the town and open other places, but they have been told that they were not wanted. It remains to be seen if the syndicate can overcome this obstacle.

WAS BORN IN ROCK COUNTY

Burr W. Jones Talked of for Governor, Lived at Union.

SAYS HE MAY RUN

Has Been in Congress, and Is a Most Able Lawyer.

THE DEMMIES REJOICE

(Special A. D. Dispatch.)

Milwaukee, July 29.—Democrats throughout the state are rejoicing over the official announcement that Burr W. Jones, of Madison, has signified that he is willing to become a candidate for the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket. As he is brought out by the anti-Rose faction and has the support of Rogers, Bird and Regan, his announcement is considered equivalent to a nomination.

Rock County Man.

Burr W. Jones was born in Union, Rock county, in 1846. He graduated from the law school at the University of Wisconsin with the class of 1870 and practiced law for two years in Portage. He then moved to Madison where he has since lived. In 1885 he was made a member of the University law faculty which position he has since held.

Went To Congress

In 1882 he was elected to congress for one term. He was later chairman of the Democratic state central committee. He was also chairman of the state tax commission under Gov. Scofield in 1898 and 1899. Mr. Jones is a law partner of E. Ray Stevens, the author of the famous Stevens Primary bill on which Governor LaFollette has based his campaign. He is considered one of the ablest of the many Madison lawyers.

Friend of Vilas

Mr. Jones is a personal friend of Senator William F. Vilas and it may have been the ex-senator's influence that has decided him to allow his name to be used.

VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS CAUSE WATER TO RECEDE

Scientist Reports an Elevation of From Three to Ten Feet Along the Atlantic.

Pittsburg, July 29.—Prof. Oscar P. Heintzel, a scientist of California who is in Pittsburg, declares that the recent eruptions of Mont Pelee have caused a noticeable elevation throughout the eastern section of the United States. He claims to have discovered places along the seacoast and in the interior for a distance of several hundred miles where the ground has risen from three to ten feet. These results have become noticeable within the last month, and scientists in the employ of the government are making a technical study to determine to what extent the United States has been affected by the upheavals in the West Indies.

Prof. Heintzel says that along the Atlantic coast it is noticeable that the tide does not reach the height it formerly did by from three to ten feet and that as far inland as Harrisburg elevations of four feet have been noticed. This is accounted for by the softness of the ground along the east coast and the hardness inland, where iron ore and other metallic formations were less liable to disturbances.

FACTORY ROOF NOW IN PLACE

WORK AT CEMENT POST PLANT IS SATISFACTORY!

OBSTACLES NOW OVERCOME

There is Much Activity at the Place, and the Building is Assuming Proportions.

On the cement factory work has reached that point where it is possible to tell quite definitely what the finished building will be, and it is safe to say that there are few who realize quite what the extent of the structure is. The roof has an area that is rather beyond that of the average building. If one would stop to figure up the area that is occupied by a roof more than seven hundred feet long and sixty feet wide, and then go out to see what the roof actually is it is probable that a new idea would be gained of the magnitude of the factory that is in progress of building.

Difficulties Mastered
Contractor Peters has now reached the point where he can feel that he has mastered all of the difficulties that have confronted him and can now go on with his work without asking any favors from anyone. For a time the weather, the facilities for transportation, and several other elements had to be taken into account as working against his interest but now he is where he can take the upper hand and let others do as they please, secure in the feeling that his part of the work, at least, will go on satisfactorily.

Glass Galore
Aside from the area of the roof of the building, which is now almost laid, and is rather larger than most persons might imagine who have not seen it, the glass that is used in the building amounts to a good deal. In the drying shed part of the building there are two hundred and thirty-eight windows, while in the main part there are nearly forty more.

To Be Large
If plans do not miscarry the grading gang of Hayes Brothers will be put to work on Wednesday or Thursday on the work of excavating for the foundations of the crushing and screening building from which the sand for the cement will be conveyed from the hill above the main factory to the main part of the building in which the processes of making the cement posts are carried on. The building will be small in comparison with the factory erected by good size, notwithstanding. Mr. Peters expects to put men at work on that building as soon as the foundations are dug.

Fake Washout
The heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday cleaned up the side tracks of the factory quite thoroughly, but there was no washout as was reported about the city on Sunday. After hearing the reports that were telephoned in, Michael Hayes drove out to the factory last night, but found that the report as to the condition of the track had been the work of a practical joker. Contractor Peters also was allowed to hear some news as to the damage done by the rain, but he was warned that everything was in good condition before he went so far as to drive out to the factory.

Track Ballasted
A gang of men were working on the tracks today, but it was more to put the finishing touches on the grading and ballasting of the tracks than to repair any damage done by the rain. Work on the north side-track has been suspended for some weeks past and it is not known just when operations will be resumed. The completion of the track would do nothing to help along the work on the building at present so it is not probable that any further work will be done immediately.

May Injure Cooper.
The Racine Journal prints an editorial on the recent political maneuvers in Racine county, that it claims will be hurtful to congressman Cooper's future chances for re-nomination. The editorial is as follows:

In refusing to recognize Kenosha's claims to the senatorship Racine Republicans have driven another nail in the coffin of Congressman Cooper. It would not be the truth to say that this was done unknowingly, as the delegates had been warned repeatedly that from a geographical standpoint, Kenosha was logically entitled to the nomination. Kenosha has taken a back seat in the matter of the circuit judgeship, has stood staunchly by Racine, and Congressman Cooper in first district politics and asked in return the nomination for the senatorship.

The failure of Racine county to concede this solves Kenosha from any further support of Congressman Cooper in future conventions.

There is no disguising the fact that Racine county politics have been seriously juggled with by Republicans of the LaFollette as well as the Stewart faction. Rock county politicians declare that in return for Racine's action in rejecting the Janesville candidate for governor, Mr. Whitehead, they are done with supporting Racine's candidate for congress. Walworth county has also seen the judicial office again drop into Racine's lap; was the first county in the district to pronounce solidly for Mr. Whitehead, and now feels—and rightly too—that Racine's desertion of Whitehead, the first district candidate—the first break in a solid first district delegation for the Rock county man, was the signal to counties in other parts of the state to drop Whitehead and pile on the governor's loaded wagon.

Walworth, Rock and Kenosha counties are laying stress on the fact that Congressman Cooper, did not turn a hand to aid the district's candidate for governor; it is even charged this morning that Mr. Cooper might have changed the result of the he seen fit to take a hand. Not that anyone in Racine is dissatisfied with the nomination. Mr. Johnson will make a splendid candidate. He ought to be elected by a large majority and will be a credit to the district in the state senate.

But the geography is all wrong, and it is wrong especially as affecting Congressman Cooper. It can hardly affect Judge Belden, for aside from the fact that the judge has only entered on a six year term and a lot is liable to happen in six years, there is not so much of politics in the judge ship as in the nomination of a member of congress, and it is apparent that Mr. Cooper, or any Racine candidate for the office of congressman, will be the sufferer.

There was only one way out of the difficulty yesterday, but the delegates did not see it. It was apparent that Mr. Reynolds was persona non grata to the Racine delegations. Any other good Kenosha man could have had the nomination unanimously, but the Kenosha people would not bring out the man. The solution of the problem would have been for Racine county to have given the nomination to Mr. Blakely. Kenosha could not have complained, for the Kenosha people four years ago promised Mr. Blakely their support, and all that the Racine delegation would have to do would be to remind Kenosha of their promise in 1898, and say to them "If you are not going to fulfill your promise, we will do it for you."

Now the delegates are wondering if Mr. Johnson will accept. He ought to accept. It is certainly an honor to represent two of the most important manufacturing cities in the state in the highest legislative body, and it is eminently fitting that these two cities should be represented by a manufacturer. It is an obligation which business men too often shirk, but with the large interests they have at stake, it is more necessary to have the best of representative citizens look after those interests, than to shift the task onto the shoulders of those who are more politicians. Racine is perfectly satisfied with the choice of Mr. Johnson. There could have been no better name chosen and if he will accept, will be beyond any question receive a large majority.

THOUGHT SHADOW WAS A BURGLAR

BOYS MAKE AN ODD MISTAKE

Think They See a Man on the Roof
of Mrs. Bump's House—
A False Alarm.

Shadows thrown by a tall tree, waving in the wind, assisted by the vivid imagination of several small boys, were responsible for a peculiar scare, which caused considerable excitement in the first ward, last Saturday evening.

See Man
It was about nine o'clock when a number of boys, who were playing near Mrs. P. H. Bump's home at 158 Washington street, thought they saw a man climbing along the roof of the house, near the chimney. There was no one at home and at first the boys did not know what to do.

Phone Police
Finally they went to the home of Mrs. Laura C. Bump, 119 Madison street, where Mrs. P. H. Bump and daughters were spending the evening. As soon as they heard the boys' story, they and some of the neighbors, went to the Bump home on Washington street, after telephoning to the police.

Search Made
Chief of Police John W. Hogan and Officer John W. Brown soon arrived on the scene and searched the house and premises thoroughly, but could find no trace of any burglar. Chief Hogan further said that it would be impossible for any one to reach the point on the roof, where the boys claimed to have seen the man, without a ladder.

A Shadow
Some one finally went to the place where the boys had stood and found that from that place the shadow, which was cast by the tree standing between the house and the electric light, looked very much like a man on the roof. So realistic was the shadow that everyone interested, accepted it as the solution of the mystery.

Mrs. Bump's home was entered by burglars one evening early in June, and this naturally added to her apprehension last Saturday evening.

INTRODUCED GOLF IN MIDDLE WEST

Herbert J. Tweedie Brought Game
from the East and Laid Out
First Course.

It is claimed that to President Herbert J. Tweedie of the Belmont golf club, belongs the honor of having first introduced golf into the great middle west. It is popularly supposed that Hibbard Chatfield Taylor and Charles R. McDonald were the first to introduce the game.

Tweedie was the secretary of the first golf organization west of New York. Six years before that he had laid out a temporary course on the public turf in Jackson park, where he tried his best to make the game popular with the old time ball players. Tweedie had played golf in the old country on the famous links of Holyoke and brought a set of clubs to this country with him. He still has some of the irons that his father used before him in playing the ancient and royal game.

Jackson park, where the public links are located at present was the scene of the first course laid out west of the Alleghenies.

They have been delayed greatly by the car manufacturers not getting the cars ready. They have had the road ready for service for some time but could not get the cars. They have succeeded at last in getting cars enough for the present and will open up the line on Wednesday.

Six Miles Laid
They now have the rails laid for about six miles this side of Beloit and have a gravel train at work halting up the track. They are rushing the work on this end of the line as fast as possible and it will be a short time until the grading is completed.

Cheap Fare
The fare on the new line will be a fraction under two cents a mile and a round trip ticket from Janesville to Rockford will cost about $1.10. They will make good time between the cities.

CLIFFORD BEST IS KNOWN AS "STICK"

A FAVORITE WITH HORSEMEN

Janesville Boy Follows the Races, Handling the Mail and Selling Programs.

The Cleveland Press, of last Saturday, contained a very good full figure picture of Clifford P. Best, formerly of this city, the picture being accompanied by the following article:

"Clifford P. Best is the way this man has his mail addressed, but few of his thousands of acquaintances recognize him by this name. Everybody calls him 'Stick' for short, the sobriquet being derived from the fact that he has lost a leg and uses a crutch.

"Best came originally from Janesville, Wis., but has followed the races so long, that he doesn't claim any particular place as home. Everybody who has ever visited the grand circuit races, has seen 'Stick,' and every horseman in the country knows him. He has charge of the mail at all the tracks on the circuit and few letters ever go astray. He also sells programs and does a thousand and one odd jobs for the horsemen, with whom he is a great favorite.

"He knows the horse world from A to Z, having followed the races for over twenty years. He lost his leg in a railroad wreck, returning from a race track.

"Like the swallows, Best flies southward when frosts come and through the winter he sells programs at New Orleans."

PLACING THE CITY HALL STAIRWAY

The Iron Supports and Standards Are Now in Their Places.

The first standards for the main staircase of the new city hall have been put in place and workmen are now completing the remainder of the work. The staircase which is of iron, runs up flight above flight just within the main entrance from the basement to the top floor. The iron standards, posts, steps, and railings are of an ornamental, but simple design and are painted a dark maroon. The various parts have been constructed so that but little work is required to fit them to the iron frame-work of the building.

The carpenters on the building have completed the wood work on the main floor and are now at work in the basement, which will be finished in the same wood as the remainder of the building. The plumbing work has been completed throughout the building with the exception of the steam radiators, which will not be attached to the steam pipes until later. A few pieces of the marble wainscoting of the main halls have been laid.

IS A LEGAL BANKRUPT.

Thomas McRae, of Milton Junction, Takes Advantage of State Law
Thomas McRae, of Milton Junction, has been duly adjudicated a bankrupt under the state law on bankruptcy and the first meeting of his creditors will be held at the office of H. M. Lewis, referee in bankruptcy, Saturday morning, August 23, at 10 o'clock.

Season's Growth.

The season is well advanced for all crops for canning purposes. Nearly all the fruit pack, with the exception of apples, is over and the pea pack throughout the country is a thing of the past for this season. There still remains the tomato and corn pack and in some sections the former is already on. Reports from canning centers tend to show that there has been a good pack of fruits this season and that the pack is in excellent condition and of a very good quality. The pea pack, while not unusually large, has been very satisfactory and the quality is also good. Tomatoes are promising well and from present indications there will be a normal yield and pack, but nothing to indicate that there will be an over production of tomatoes. Indications point to a large yield of corn and in consequence there will be a good pack. Taken all in all this season from present indications, will be a good one for the canning industry and this also means a good year for growers. In some sections of course, there have been crop shortages, and even failures, but generally speaking, it has been a very good season thus far for all concerned.—Cannery Producer.

Wisconsin Prospects.
Growers report from the northern part of Wisconsin that the prospects for a large blueberry crop is very bright.

Reports from the vicinity of Rolling Prairie, Wis., are to the effect that a blight has struck the fruit trees and bushes and the prospects are for a small crop in that vicinity.

Reports from Black River Falls, Wis., are to the effect that the blueberry commences to turn it falls off very light, owing to a blight which has struck the vines. As soon as the berry commences to turn it falls off from the vine, except in places where the vines are well shaded by timber. In the vicinity of Sparta and Berlin, Wis., there was a heavy crop of strawberries this year and they brought excellent prices.—Cannery Producer.

No More the Calla Lily.

Hereafter it must be called simply the "calla," and not the "calla lily." The very careful and accurate Philadelphia Ledger gives this luminous explanation of the difference: "The 'calla lily,' it may be remarked, in correction of a report from California, is not a lily at all; it is a calla, and none of its beauty is lost in giving it its correct name."

MAN WITH A CURRY COMB

A NOVEL DEFENSIVE WEAPON

If Used Properly, It Is Better Than a Hoe Any Time—Removes Portion of the Nose.

A young man by the name of Baldwin, looking for trouble, went into Selkirk's store, Saturday night, and took a punch at his brother Frank, who is employed there. Frank grabbed a curry comb that happened to be handy and shied it at his brother. It struck him in the nose removing a portion of it in an artistic manner. The young man was soon covered with gore from the cut and was taken into the Elk saloon where his injuries were attended to. The police thought he was sufficiently punished so let him go. A man with a curry comb is sometimes equal to a man with a hoe or an ax.

EXPRESS FEAR FOR EDWARD VII

TO FACE SECOND OPERATION

Report That Great Britain's Sovereign Must Submit to the Surgeon's Knife Again Appears to Be Well Founded.

London, July 29.—London has been startled by several rumors concerning the king's condition. Where these reports originated cannot be traced, but they spread rapidly, especially in the West End. The first was to the effect that the king was about to undergo a second operation; the second that the coronation had been indefinitely postponed, and the third, which received no credence whatever, was that the king had had a relapse and was sinking rapidly.

It was learned on excellent authority that there was no truth in the second and third rumors. Instead, of a relapse having occurred, the king passed a very encouraging day, and his convalescence continued without any interruption. It was said in official circles that up to the present time there had been no thought of changing the date of the coronation, nor has there been any reason for any discussion upon this point.

King Improves. King Edward's improvement has kept pace with the rate which his physicians anticipated, and unless some turn absolutely unforeseen occurs the king will be crowned Aug. 9.

The fixing of this early date was not done at the initiative of the physicians, but rather against their will. The king displayed such great impatience and was so insistent that the date selected be as early as possible that the physicians yielded. They feared that there would be greater danger to their royal patient by reason of worry if they persisted in advising his majesty against an early day being fixed than through the fatigue the ceremony would entail.

People in Doubt. But notwithstanding the invariably favorable bulletins issued from the royal yacht people are still asking: "Will the king be fit for the ceremony?" and a great deal is heard that in a way goes toward confirming the first rumor which was afloat.

While it cannot be said as a positive fact there is good reason for believing that when the coronation is over a second operation will be performed upon the king. It is believed that in such an event the appendix itself will be removed. This supposition is strengthened by the arrangements which are being made to carry the king into Westminster abbey. A sort of Sedan chair has been constructed. Whether it will be used or not depends upon his majesty's condition. At all events everything will be prepared and in readiness should the king be unable to walk.

Noblemen to Carry Chair. Further weight is given to this opinion by the fact that all suggestions that the journey from the door of the abbey to the coronation chair be shortened are met with a statement that it will not be necessary.

It was also said that if the Sedan chair be used it will not be carried into the abbey by servants or soldiers but by four noblemen, who, it may be imagined, will be selected as much for their strength as for their rank. It has been a subject of much comment that no police regulations or directions have yet been issued for Aug. 9. This, taken in connection with the rumors about the king's health, has kept the public from buying seats in quantities along the route of the procession.

Postpone Rehearsals. There are to be rehearsals in Westminster abbey on Thursday and Friday preceding the day of the ceremony, but the putting off of this very important preliminary work until just before the day fixed has tended to increase the doubt that is extremely prevalent in the public mind.

CAUSES SENSATION IN IRELAND

Writes of Conspiracy Against Landlord Trust Stir the People.

London, July 29.—A writ of conspiracy issued by Messrs. Redmond, O'Brien, Dillon and Davitt against the trustees of the new Irish landlord trust has created a great sensation in Ireland. The Freeman's Journal promises that it will be the biggest constitutional hearing in Ireland since the Parnell trial in 1882.

Nab Hold-up Men.

New York, July 29.—Two men, arrested in the Bovey on suspicion, have been identified as the persons who held up and robbed the office, in Port Chester, of the New York and Stamford Electric company.

Levee Is Washed Away. Waco, Tex., July 29.—The Brazos is still receding. The Slayden levee gave way and great damage was done. The Texas Central had three miles of track washed away.

Schwab Is Better. Atlantic City, N. J., July 29.—Chas. M. Schwab has entirely recovered from his recent indisposition and spent some time on his cottage porch.

He also took an automobile ride and he will left for New York.

A VISION OF LIFE

(Original.)

I stood on a bridge, beneath me gently flowing water, on one side a declivity, on the other a meadow wearing that shade of pale green which belongs to early spring. Across the meadow above a clump of oaks was a spire. The sun was peeping above the horizon, tinting the fields, the hills and the water a soft yellow glow, while the cross on the spire shone like burnished gold. Birds were on the wing hunting a breakfast, now and again sending forth a soft, musical piping. The sky was a pale azure. There was not even one fleecy cloud floating over its great, domelike surface.

Suddenly from a clock in the church spire came a stroke, a harmonious blending of chords that I had never heard in earthly music. It seemed to me a fitting signal from heaven that a child had been born, a new soul launched on earth. While its entrancing melody was still filling my senses with a freshness that recalled the pulse of childhood a little girl emerged from the oaks which hid the spire and came quickly along the road leading to the bridge. She held in her hand a few wild flowers and stopped now and again to gather more. Coming on to the bridge, she passed me, tossing her ringlets and turning upon me a pair of blue eyes full of interest and wonder.

"Is it not a beautiful world?" she said. "I am going to the hills. They are so mellow. I shall love to play on their grassy slopes."

She did not stop, and as she receded the last word seemed to come from an infinite distance.

The scene changed. Where there had been fields there were dwellings. Trees had been cut away. Others that had been mere sprouts were casting broad shadows. The sun stood high in the heavens.

The clock in the spire struck 2.

There was a deeper, more intense melody in the strokes than before, both joyous and solemn, giving me an impression of great happiness blended with a sense of great responsibilities. The sound had not died away before there came from the hills a merry shout, and I saw a wedding procession moving toward me. The bride walked alone, followed by her family and friends. Reaching the bridge, she crossed it with a firm step, and when she turned her eyes to me I saw in them traces of the look I had seen in the little girl and knew that she was the same. She passed on, with her retinue, and was soon lost in the oaks that hid the church. Then there was a hush, and the strains of a wedding march burst forth. In another moment variegated fairs were to be seen moving through openings in the trees. The married pair, followed by their friends, had left the church and were going to their home.

The clock struck 3.

This time there was a mellow sound in its tones suggestive of autumn. On the hills hung purple grapes. Orchards were ruddy with fruits. Here and there shined a scarlet leaf. The sun stood midway between the meridian and the horizon.

Up the road came two figures, a woman and a youth. She was resting her hand affectionately on his shoulder, and it was plain that he was her son. The earnestness accompanying the words she was speaking to him, the sad look on her face, mingled with pride and hope, told me that she was sending him out into the world to play his part in life. At the bridge she embraced him, and he went on, while she stood looking after him. Turning, she fixed her eye momentarily on me, then slowly retraced her steps and was soon shut out of sight by the oaks. I had seen her for the third time.

A single stroke broke upon midnight, a wail, a dirge, an essence of infinite misery. I looked about me and through the darkness saw that it was winter. The stream beneath me was congealed. The hills were white with snow. As the vibration of the bell came on they lost their melancholy, swelling slowly into strains of heavenly music. As the first stroke had signified the birth of a child, this was a greeting to a soul that had trodden its earthly path and was being welcomed in heaven. I looked up into the dark vault studded with stars, and fancy showed me one more picture, a face in which were blended the child, the bride, the mother. In it there was neither youth nor age, but a sexless spirit of rare beauty, flickering like an aurora.

It faded, and I saw my bedroom lighted by the faint glow of a night lamp. The vibration of the stroke I had last heard ended in the tones of the tiny bell of my repeater under my pillow. Reaching for the watch, I touched a spring, and it struck the hour of 1.

I laid gone to bed and to sleep at a few minutes after midnight. In less than an hour the musical strokes of my watch had given me in four pictures a vision of an entire life. The first stroke at the quarter had brought me the child hastening to enjoy the beauties of the world. Two strokes for the half had painted her entering upon the duties of life at her marriage. Three strokes for the third quarter had shown her starting a new generation over the course she had trodden in maturity. The fourth stroke for 1 o'clock was a funeral bell changing into a welcome to a new existence.

There is no such thing as time. Between the strokes of midnight and 1 o'clock had I dreamed for an hour or lived a lifetime?

F. A. MITCHEL.

A Year of Lovemaking. The year 1902 bids fair to be a record one for lovemaking in Berlin. Not even the oldest inhabitant can recall such an epidemic of betrothals, says the Baltimore Herald. During the past few weeks the demand for engagement rings has been simply colossal. One firm of jewelers alone has sold 18,000 rings. This means 9,000 engagements, since the man wears a ring as well as the woman in Germany.

Never Missed Him.

He (returning from a long journey)—And, pray, how did you feel during my absence? You will have missed me very much? She—Oh, no! Every night I took some of your old clothes and scattered them about the floor, then I burnt a few cheap cigars in your study, trampled the mud out of the street all over the stairs, and then it felt just as if my sweet, darling husband were at home.

Dangers of Luxury.

There are in the United States about 15,000,000 families, and 1 per cent of these own more than half of the aggregate wealth of the country. These 15,000 families, presumably, can afford to be luxurious in their living, but the standards they make are not safe standards for any but themselves.—John Gilmer Field, in Almselves.

PRESIDENT ADAMS

By the death of Charles Kendall

Adams, the country loses one of its great scholars and educators. The world of letters and science is bereft of one of the bright and shining lights that made the century just closed one marked in the literary and scientific world.

Not only is his death felt by the world at large but more especially by the state of Wisconsin, by the students who have graduated from the state university during his regime and by those who are to come in days to come. "Sleepy Charley"

as he was affectionately called by his students, was a man who not only won the hearts of the student body, but held them. He was a true friend and an able advocate of the scholar, discouraged by adverse reports, who really desired to succeed. He has built for himself a monument, in the minds of hundreds of the young people of the state, more mighty than the pyramids of the Pharaohs. His death is more sincerely mourned by those who came in actual contact with him during their University course, than by the outside world.

Coming to the university at a critical stage in its career, he labored hard and diligently to promote its interests. He gave the best years of his life to its upbuilding. He gave to the people of Wisconsin the experience of years of thought and study and gave them with a will that made the gift more precious. Under his able management the University grew and prospered. New buildings were added, new courses established, students increased in number and able men were turned out each year, more fully equipped for life's battles.

He raised the University from a college to a University. This work alone should give him a place in the hearts of all the citizens of the state.

President Adams was a man of rare qualities and pleasing manner. He was at home to the poorest of his students as well as the richest. No man ever went to him with trouble that he did not turn away with a feeling of hope inspired in his mind.

President Adams was a diplomat. He was a man of letters, a man of science and with all that a man of the world who understood and was interested in the every day worldly life of his charges.

Calm, reserved, not inclined to mingle with men outside of those in University circles, he gathered around him a coterie of educators, who have become famous throughout the whole United States. The hard work and struggle for existence that he had gone through for an education, in his youth, that fitted him for the appreciation of the advantages that should belong to the youth of today. He was able to use his wonderful powers with the state legislature and gain for the University appropriations for the building up of the University that has gained him both the admiration and respect of the whole state.

Wisconsin will long hold in kindly and appreciative memory the name of Charles Kendall Adams.

OUR EXPORTS

The frequently asked question,

"What becomes of our exports of manufactures?" is now definitely answered by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics. While it has been practicable to show the countries to which any given article is sent in any given year, the figures of the Bureau have not formerly been so adjusted as to render it practicable to determine what share of the total exports of manufactures was sent to a given country or grand division of the world; or, in other words, the location of the principal markets for American manufactures. These facts are now shown by a series of tables complied by the Bureau. They show that during the year 1901 52 per cent. of the manufactures exported went to Europe, 23 per cent. to North America, 6.6 per cent. to South America,

8.2 per cent. to Asia, 7 per cent. to Oceania, and a little less than 3 per cent. to Africa. The total value of manufactures exported to Europe was $215,000,000; to North America, other than the United States, $96,000,000;

to South America, $27,000,000; to Asia, $33,700,000; to Oceania, $29,

000,000, and to Africa, $10,500,000.

Of the total exports of manufactures to Europe, amounting to $215,000,000, ate, try and brace up under the cheering thought that even the retirement

Merrill Advocate: Senator Spooner

has by his great ability, shed much lustre on the state of Wisconsin, and is so indispensable to the nation at this time that he should be tendered a re-election, whether he favors any Republican platform. He should not be asked to become a candidate; the Republicans should ask him to serve them again for another term. He has earned a re-election at the hands of the Republican party. It is not for the party to beat around the bush and say; do you want it?

Washington Star: Republican sen-

sire the re-election of Mr. Spooner fit him for conspicuous work in that

"TINKER" SMITH LEAVES TOWN

To Escape Sentence for Carrying Concealed Weapons—Cocaine Fiend Frightens Women.

The case of "Tinker" Smith, who was arrested for carrying concealed weapons, was called in the municipal court this morning. Tinker pleaded guilty to the charge, but told Judge Fife that if he would suspend sentence he would leave the state and would never come back. Judge Fife told Smith that he had intended to send him down for six months but on condition that he would get out of the city by twelve o'clock and would go out of the state and stay out he would suspend sentence.

Smith has two other suspended sentences hanging over him so that if he shows up again he will get quite a stretch of punishment. He told Officer Fanning this morning when he ran across him near the Five Points that he was getting away from that six months and those suspended sentences.

An Adjourned Case
The case of George C. McLean vs. Benjamin Bland and Fred Burton, which is being heard by Judge Fife as referee, was adjourned until Friday.

Appealed to Police
A tramp giving Marion, Ia., as his home created considerable excitement this morning on North Bluff street and frightened the ladies living in that neighborhood out of half a year's growth by his actions. They telephoned for an officer and soon half of the police force was on the way to the scene of the excitement. Officer Fanning met the fellow on North Main street and took him to the lock-up.

A Cocaine Fiend
The man is not crazy, as the women thought, but is addicted to the use of cocaine and when under the influence of the drug acts very queerly. He said that his home was in Marion, Ia., and that he came here from Milwaukee.

ASSEMBLY OPENS AT DELAVAN LAKE WITH TOMORROW'S SESSION

Miss Ellen Stone is the Great Attraction—Address by Senator Whitehead, Thursday.

Delavan Lake is quite the Mecca for pleasure seekers and many Janesville people are among the numbers who are flocking to this popular southern Wisconsin summer resort, to be present at the opening sessions of the Delavan Lake Assembly, which will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The Assembly, which will continue until August 10th inclusive, will open at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with an open air concert by Busse & Kopp's ideal orchestra, of Chicago. The members of the orchestra are all thorough practical musicians and solo artists, Herman Busse being recognized as a violinist of rare ability and one of the leading orchestral conductors, while Emil Kopp's fame as a cornet soloist and composer is world wide. The orchestra will remain throughout the entire session of the assembly.

Address by Miss Stone.
The great attraction for tomorrow afternoon, however, will be the address of Ellen M. Stone, the renowned missionary, in the auditorium at 3 o'clock. Miss Stone will relate her experience while in the hands of the brigands. It is said that Miss Stone's recital of her capture, captivity and release, is more exciting than the Arabian Nights' Tales and resembles more nearly the romances of medieval times than events of the twentieth century civilization.

The address at tomorrow evening's session at 8 o'clock, will be "Man and the Home," by Mrs. A. E. Shipley, who is a zealous Chautauquan and who is to have charge of two of the leading departments of the assembly, the Woman's Council and the Round Table.

Senator Whitehead to Speak.
On Thursday afternoon Senator John M. Whitehead, of this city, will deliver the address at 3 o'clock his subject being "Civic Forces." The morning session Thursday will begin at 8:15 o'clock and will include devotional exercises and normal Bible class, conducted by Dr. Sylvester Burnham; assembly chorus class conducted by John W. Lince; primary Bible class conducted by Woman's Council, and Round Table conducted by Mrs. A. E. Shipley. The evening will be devoted to a lecture on Wireless Telegraphy and Kindred Themes by Reno B. Welborn.

This is the fifth annual session of the Delavan Lake Assembly and indications are that it will be one of the most successful ever held.

Willie Ryan was fined $2 and costs or $3.20 or six days in jail.

First Hunting License: County Clerk Starr has issued thirteen hunting licenses up today. W. H. Stevens of Edgerton, was the first one to take out a license for the present year. The law now requires that the hunter must have a license to hunt rabbits and squirrels which accounts for the licenses being taken out at this time.

WILL DECIDE THE QUESTION TONIGHT

BUSINESS MEN WILL HEAR CAPTAIN NORCROSS' REPORT.

INVESTIGATED THOROUGHLY

Mr. Newman May Receive the Loan He Asks for, and Move at Once.

Tonight the Business Men's club of Janesville will meet and hear the report of Captain Pliny Norcross on the shoe factory from Rochester, Ind., that is looking for a new site for its factory and has designs on Janesville.

Mr. Norcross returned from Rochester this morning after a thorough investigation of the plant and its resources. He is ready to make a full and complete report on the exact situation this evening and is very anxious that all the business men in the city be present to hear it and then decide what they will do.

Wants $15,000 Loan
Mr. G. E. Newman, the present owner of the factory who wants to move from Rochester here is very enthusiastic over the opportunities offered in Janesville and as an inducement to come asks for a loan of $15,000 for ten years, retiring ten per cent each year. He will put his stock and good-will, valued at $45,000, against the loan.

Good Proposition
The proposition is an interesting one to Janesville and one which the business men are thinking seriously over. If Mr. Norcross in his report approves the plan the factory will doubtless be in operation here before the snow flies and a hundred or more families added to the population of Janesville.

Work on the New Building Will Be in Masons' Hands for Some Time Yet.

On the Carnegie library the brick work has reached the level of the window frames on the main floor of the building. On the west face of the building where there is a double tier of windows the wall is several feet higher than elsewhere. The chimney has also been built to the same height.

A red brick is used on the building with an outer facing of gray hydraulic pressed brick. The operations on the library will now progress uneventfully for some time until the brick laying has reached the point where it will be possible for the carpenters to begin their work again.

CRUSHING PLANT PLEASING SIGHT

LOOKS LIKE A MEDIEVAL CASTLE WITH WINDING TOWERS.

THAT GIANT GRAVEL SCOOP

There is Material Enough at Hau d to Last for the Next Fifteen Years.

It is stated that the work on the Kneckerbocker crushing plant which has been going on for the past three months, will be completed before two more weeks are past. Aside from some small jobs here and there about the building the only work that remains to be done is that of finishing the top story of the storage and screening a part of the building where the bins for the different grades of sand and gravel are located.

Imposing From Distance
From a distance the structure presents the appearance of a medieval castle with tower here, additions, and hexagonal tower with a platform surrounding it, crowning all at the east end of the building where the monster steam shovel dumps the sand into the hopper at the very top of the highest point of the lofty building. Here and there ladders scale the walls of the building and in all directions from the point of the tower spidery cables extend bracing the structure against the strain of the steam shovel with its load of several tons' weight.

Abundance of Material
There is something almost uncanny about the shovel as it rises quickly from its resting place in the sand pit and shoots up the steep incline of the steel cable to the topmost point where it deposits its load and shoots down again to be filled up and repeat its journey. It is said that the sand pit contains material sufficient to keep the plant in operation for fifteen years without shifting the source of supplies.

Carpenters are boarding up the sides at the west end of the building and when that work is completed the plant will be able to carry on its work unimpeded by the carpenters who have been going on with their work after the plant was already in operation.

DRASTIC ORDER AGAINST MINERS

WILL STOP FOOD DISTRIBUTION

Stringent Step Is Condemned by Labor Leaders and Others, Who Declare Such Radical Action Is Beyond All Reason.

Charleston, W. Va., July 29.—An injunction that will prevent the distribution of food supplies to striking miners in West Virginia was issued by Judge B. F. Keller in the United States district court in Charleston. It is denounced by the coal miners as the most drastic of the rulings that have brought the American people under the domination of "government by injunction." It is regarded also as an attempt by the operators to prevent the great strike fund now being raised by the United Mineworkers of America from being distributed expeditiously or at all in West Virginia.

Terms of the Order.

In precise terms the injunction restrains W. B. Wilson, national secretary of the mineworkers, "Mother" Jones and other nonresidents of the state from locating supply camps near the property of the Guale Mountain Coal Company.

Many of the striking coal miners of the state, especially those who formerly worked in this company's mines, live on or near this property. Although the exact distance from the company's land at which the camps may be pitched is not established in the injunction the miners assert that the writ will seriously interfere with the distribution of supplies of food and the necessities of life to those who are able to earn nothing while on strike.

Penalties for Violation.

Violation of the injunction is punishable by jail sentences and by heavy fines for contempt of court.

That Judge Keller's injunction is intended as the beginning of an attempt to cut off from the miners all outside assistance during the strike, even food from those who might be starving, is proved, the miners assert, by the evidence offered to induce the court to grant the injunction.

There was no evidence or argument to prove that the defendants in the suit were threatening either the lives of the company's employees or its property. It was simply urged by the company's representatives that Secretary Wilson and his aids were supplying strikers with food, and they were selected as defendants for this very reason.

Fear Its Effects.

If Judge Keller's action is carried to the end to which it points, the miners declare, the federal courts, boldly and with sweeping injunctions against supplying food at all to the strikers will render them helpless and put them at the mercy of the operators in Pennsylvania as well as West Virginia. They add that the great anthracite strike, where, as here, the miners are waging a battle for higher wages, must collapse for very fear of starvation.

Judge Keller's Injunction Comes as the Culmination of Numerous Similar Writs Against Labor in West Virginia.

JULY OATS SHOW 12-CENT DROP

New Sells as Low as 55 Cents and Closes at 58.

Chicago, July 29.—No support was given the oats yesterday. The new July sold as low as 55c, a drop from Saturday of 12c, and closed at 58c. The old July were off 3 1/2c, closing at 41c, which was the bottom. The crowd was inclined to assume that the short interest had been reduced, and rather felt the decline in the price was because the bulls felt uncertain as to just what relation the receipts during the next two or three days would hold to the remnant of the short line. While this was the popular theory, no one felt very certain of it, and no one was venturing any short selling in the July. The price merely drifted, and the July transactions were few and small.

EARTHQUAKES IN SEVERAL STATES

FRIGHTENS THE INHABITANTS

Parts of California Also Shaken by Disturbance and Some Damage Is Done to Oil Wells in the Lompoc Valley.

Omaha, July 29.—An earthquake shock so severe as to cause consternation in many places is reported from towns in Nebraska, western Iowa and South Dakota. The disturbance occurred shortly before 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and lasted for ten to fifteen seconds.

This was the first earthquake shock ever felt in Nebraska. The wave swept over a stretch about 200 miles square. The center of the disturbance was near Norfolk, Neb., but Tilden, Neb., reports the hardest shock. At that place dishes were thrown down, brick walls were cracked, wells dried up and other damage resulted. Three distinct shocks were felt at Tilden.

At the Santee Indian agency several shocks were felt. They were accompanied by deep rumblings.

Breaks Up Indian Dances.

On the Omaha and Winnebago reservation the earthquake terrorized the Indians, who had never experienced anything of the kind. The Indians were holding festivities in honor of visitors from the Indian Territory. Hundreds were gathered in the big tent when the shocks came. Fright seized the gathering and the dances were broken up. These agencies are not far from Mount Loula, Nebraska's volcano, and the Indians immediately gave that mountain the credit for the disturbances.

Two hundred towns felt the disturbances. Among those reporting the hardest shocks are Tilden, Onell, Petersburg, Elgin, Oakdale, Battle Creek, Norfolk, Ewing, Neligh, Randolph and Clearwater.

Terror at Battle Creek.

At Battle Creek there was almost a panic. Houses shook perceptibly and rumbling noises resembling thunder added to the terror of the inhabitants. Many rushed into the streets and for some time would not go near structures that were likely to cause injury in case of a possible collapse. The vibrations were so pronounced as to knock down insecurely fastened ornaments and rattle dishes. The tremor was continued for about fifteen seconds and was felt at many near by towns.

Yankton, S. D., felt a shock of twelve seconds' duration. The disturbance seems to have been more clearly felt along the boundary line between Nebraska and South Dakota, although a number of places in both states were affected.

IN CALIFORNIA.

Shock Lasting Thirty Seconds Is Felt in Lompoc Valley.

San Francisco, Cal., July 29.—A severe earthquake shock was felt in Lompoc Valley at 10:55 o'clock Sunday night. The shock lasted fully thirty seconds and was so severe that dishes, clocks, house plants, etc., were thrown from shelves and furniture and other articles were upset.

The people were stricken with terror and ran from their houses, some fearing to return, as other lighter shocks continued for several hours afterward. Another heavy shock was felt at 5 a. m. and one at 11 a. m. A large water tank was knocked over; the earth cracked at many places. The Santa Ynez river bed slightly changed at places.

Meager advices from Los Alamos, near Santa Barbara, report that a severe shock was felt Sunday night at about 11 o'clock, doing $15,000 damage to the property of the Western Union Oil Company at the Garraja wells. At Harris Station a fissure is reported to have opened, and from it a stream of water two feet deep and eighteen feet wide is flowing. A slight shock was felt in Santa Barbara, but no damage was done.

At Santa Maria the vibrations, which were from east to west, lasted forty-five seconds. Old-timers say it was the heaviest shock ever felt there. Near here a formerly dry creek bed was turned into a rushing stream.

Two distinct shocks were felt at San Luis Obispo. The first and heaviest lasted three seconds.

"SHIRT SLEEVES" CHAFFEE

Famous Fighter, Who Has Been Ordered Home From Philippines.

Major General Adna R. Chaffee, now in command of the United States forces in the Philippines, who has just been ordered home by President Roosevelt, is known in the army as "the man in shirt sleeves." He earned this sobriquet in Cuba, at El Caney hill, where he divested himself of his uniform coat and fought in the trenches with the soldiers.

General Chaffee will leave Manila about Sept. 30 and will relieve General

GENERAL ADNA R. CHAFFEE

MacArthur of the command of the department of the east, with headquarters at Governors Island, New York.

The meteoric rise of Adna R. Chaffee from a private in the ranks of the American army to a major generalship has attracted the attention of the world. Before the outbreak of the Spanish war General Chaffee was a major of a negro cavalry regiment and commandant of the cavalry school of instruction at Fort Riley.

From a humble country home at Orwell, O., General Chaffee has climbed up the ladder to his present high position, that of major general commanding the United States army in the Philippines, and he was the first private in the regular army to be elevated to such an exalted office. He will be succeeded in the Philippines by General Davis.

Through his tact and bravery during the charge at El Caney and in the campaign in China, where he was also in command of the United States forces, his name has become pleasantly familiar to his countrymen.

After the China campaign General Chaffee succeeded General MacArthur in the command of the Philippine department. He then made a tour of the islands to study conditions and recommended changes in the civil government.

After the civil war General Chaffee won fame as an Indian fighter and was the idol of his men. One of his favorite commands when in a hot chase after Indians was, "Follow me, men, and every man that's killed I'll make a corporal."

ANGEL OF CRIPPLES.

Famous Novelist Helps London's Maimed Children.

Mrs. Humphry Ward, Great Britain's most famous woman novelist, has just succeeded in inducing the London school board to undertake a new educational movement.

For some years Mrs. Ward has been engaged in philanthropic work, her especial charge being the crippled children of the English metropolis. She called the attention of the school board to the cruelty of compelling crippled children to mingle with the sturdier, rougher children at school.

Largely through her efforts the members of the board are now engaged in the humane task of establishing in various sections of the city special schools for little cripples. Two of these have already been opened, one at Paddington and another at Bethnal Green.

MRS. HUMPHRY WARD.

At these schools every convenience and comfort has been supplied. Instead of hard wooden benches soft lounges are provided for the little cripples, and trained nurses are in constant attendance.

The Ills of Society.

SPOONER COMMENT.

New York Evening Post: A public man could not ask a more general and hearty indorsement than the action of the Wisconsin Republican convention last week has evoked from the press of the country. The dominant LaFollette faction in the party evidently intended to snub the senator because he has not been an admirer of the governor, and their purpose obviously was to provoke him into refusing to accept a re-election by making terms of his candidacy odious. But this treatment of the state's best known man, has provoked such indignant censure from Republican newspapers in all parts of the nation, that even a man of LaFollette's egotism must see that he has gone too far in insisting that everybody shall pay court to him. The feeling is practically universal that it would be a gross outrage if one faction of Republicans in a single state, should force out of the public service on such grounds the most eminent representative of the party in congress, and there is a general demand that whatever else the LaFollette men and the "stalwarts" may do in a war which for the most part does not interest outsiders, they shall call a truce on the question of the senatorship. The opinion of the country, when it is strongly pronounced, has marked influence in any state, and it seems hardly possible, that factionalists in Wisconsin can defy public sentiment in this case.

Pittsburg Press: Senator John C. Spooner was the great man of the last session of congress. There are a number of Republicans in the senate, whose admirers call them the brainy, "smooth," astute, clever men of the party, but every time the party machinery got clogged during the session just ended, it was Mr. Spooner's fertile wits which set the wheels going again. All this is merely by way of preface to the statement that they do not seem to care so much for Mr. Spooner in his own state of Wisconsin. In the state convention the other day, a resolution was adopted indorsing him for another term, but imposing certain conditions as to his co-operating in the more or less local schemes of the LaFollette section of the state organization. Senator Spooner's friends presented a minority report, eliminating these conditions, but the majority report was adopted. Mr. Spooner is a proud man, and it is feared he will resent the impertinence by retiring. Instead of retiring, he should let national legislation and national affairs go to the damnation how-boys and devote himself single-heartedly to local and state wire pulling as the Senators from Pennsylvania do. Then he would not be subject to LaFollette humiliations.

OF INTEREST TO SPORTSMEN.

Celery is plentiful at Koshkonong Magazine Article Says That Wild The August number of the "Sports Afield," publishes a statement from a resident of the Lake Koshkonong district in this state: "That the wild celery in the lake was never more plentiful than it is this year and that the stories that the carp are destroying it are all fakes." All lovers of duck shooting hope that this may be true and that the writer knows what he is talking about but the great majority of the hunters and residents about the lake have been unable to discover any great crop of celery and it is known to a certainty that the carp riot up the celery roots.
